FIVE RIOTERS CONVICTED

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Even while the trial of defendants accused of rioting was in progress Judge Raglan Tuttle was in receipt of postcards from Oakland, reading:

"I, the undersigned, demand the immediate and unconditional release of the six Murchie miners charged with rioting. These union men have committed no crime and were arrested solely because they exercised their legal right to strike and picket. These framed arrests are merely an attempt on the part of the miners and their political servants to destroy the democratic rights of labor and the people of Nevada County."

Since January 20 Judge Tuttle has received thousands of such postals, most of them signed. It is a flagrant exhibition of mass contempt of court. However, George Anderson, attorney for these defendants, has said in open court that if anyone tried to influence the court to convict these defendants, it they would be "moral perverts," while anyone sending these "demands" to Judge Tuttle would be merely exercising their constitutional right to "petition the government." We suppose, of course, this was not said so much for the enlightenment of the court as for the gallery of CIO communists that was present when that extraordinary statement was made.

Despite the New Deal and the new thought that corrosively attacks the dignity of courts and the administration of justice, the most illuminating example of which was the President's appointment of a former gold card member of the Ku Klux Klan to the United States Supreme Court, we still retain a very definite opinion that even under this regime of stupid and loose thinking, these card writers are in contempt of court and should be brought to bar to answer therefore.

The chief trouble with such a proceeding is the cost to the county, and beyond that the fact that the men and women who instigate this mass expression of contempt, would escape, while their ignorant and deluded followers would receive the punishment.

The theme of the "Barber of Seville" a delightful comic opera is no more fanciful and exotic than the testimony given by the Barber of Wallace, at the trial. One may now comment upon this since the trial is concluded. Scott Erwin stood on a bank alongside the road and observed much that happened. He saw a rock strike Sheriff Tobiassen in the neck, a rock "that would have felled a less husky man," and looked quickly to see who had thrown it. He saw only a highway patrolman and, according to his testimony, knew that he could not have thrown the rock. The real role Scott played in the affair was when the fighting was over. Then he came forward, and said to the sheriff: "There has been bloodshed enough." A truce was made and a promise given that thereafter the picketing would be peaceful. A certain amount of blood it seems must be spilled to make a case for the CIO communists.

For those wo do the bleed letting at the behest of their leader, we have always had a feeling that they were the least guilty. Whether convicted or not has not much interested the writer of this column. As the law stands, it is extremeely difficult to convict inciters to mob violence. The "big shots" who make truces after their followers are worsted in battles with peace officers are usually carefully protected from the consequences of their acts. Like the queen bee in the hive, they lay eggs, but the workers must sweat and toil to support them and their offspring.

Too often those who lead labor nowadays have a gift of gab and an imagination that runs riot. In effect they are abortive Walt Disneys. Their whole outlook on life is fanciful and thoroughly impractical. Reid Robinson's statement: "That when all labor is organized each man will receive not less than $5,000 a year, is an example of the gift of gab wedded to a riotous imagination. They are able to delude and inspire those who love to hear of a paradise which they may enter without sweat or worry.

A party that enjoyed a happy week end in Nevada City were Miss Mann of Los Angeles, Miss Graham and Messrs George Foreman and Frank Hurley, all of Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. James Storey of Auburn. Miss Graham is a sister of Mrs. Bert Foreman and Mrs. McQuay of Nevada City, George Foreman is a nephew of Bert Foreman.

Nevada City To Stage Mexican Fiesta On It's 90th Birthday

Nevada City with the assistance of Grass Valley will celebrate the 90th birthday of Nevada City in a three day celebration over the second, third and fourth.

The Fourth of July this year will not only represent our glorious American government but will also have entwined the sentimeit of Mexico which will consist of history of the early days of the city when Mexican law was in force. The first law and order established in Nevada City was under a Mexican alcalde.

The queen will be selected by vote. A contest will be held for the next three weeks ending at the big fandango at Pioneers Park in Nevada City on Sunday June 26. The ladies of the auxiliary of the firemen have been asked to take charge of the contest and it is expected they will accept. Tickets will be distributed to all merchants free and they will be expected to give each customer a ticket according to amount of purchases. Tickets will be for 10 cents, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 purchases.

Prizes will be awarded to the four highest ladies in the contest as follows: Elgin wrist watch donated by R. J. Berggren, local jeweler; $10 merchandise order from Nevada City Drug Store; $5.00 merchandise order Boston Mercantile Co.

On June 25 at Armory Hall a Mexican Fandango will be held in the evening and all the characteristics of Mexico will be portrayed. This will be followed on the following day by a picnic and fandango at Pioneers Park on June 26. Dancing, games and baseball will be features and there is some talk of a bloodless bull fight.

Funds raised from the Fandango of the 25 and 26 will be used to pay for the Fourth of July celegration. This is something new in the way of raising money as in the past merchants and citizens have been asked to contribute several hundred dollars to give the big celebration. In the present case all will play on the 25 and 26, as they pay for the coming event, of the second, third and fourth of July.

Committees were chosen at a meeting held Wednesday evening and from the group of names it is believed that Nevada City is in for a happy celebration.

The following committees have been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce in connection with the Fourth of July celebration:

Executive Committee: George Gildersleeve, chairman. Hal Draper, Louis Kopp, Dick Lane, Harry Poole, C. E. Bosworth, Frank Davies, Carroll Coughlan, Ward Sheldon.

Treasurer, Lloyd Dudley.

Secretary, Ward Sheldon.

Publicity Committee, Emmet Gallagher, John Gaskins, Alec Jacobs.

Finance committee, Carl Tobiassen, chairman, George Calanan, Ward Sheldon.

Invitations committee, Frank Finnegan, chairman, Miles Coughlan.

Music committee, Myers Mobley, chairman. Beverly Barron.

Pre-Fourth Celebration: Louis Kopp, chairman, Hal Draper, Dick Lane, C. Berggren.

CIO Organizer and WPA Thief Sentenced

SACRAMENTO, June 2.—Luther J. Gow, 28, identified in the court of Superior Judge Dal M. Lemmon as organizer and president of Local No. 83, Committee of Industrial Organization, has been sentenced to Folsom prison for his part in the systematic looting of foodstuffs from stores in the Sacramento Public Market, Thirteenth and J streets.

Henry Eisner, 48, watchman, who admitted Mrs. Hazel Ashley, 23, and her accomplices to the market over a long period was placed on probation for six years. He must spend one year in the Sacramento County Industrial Road Camp and repay the market $500 at the rate of $25 a month.

Mrs. Ashley was placed on probation for six years and must spend one year in the county jail. Mrs. Blanche Thompson, who posed as the wife of Gow, was given probation for three years.

Probation Officer C. E. Wilson reported Mrs. Thompson's only part was to prepare lists of groceries desired. She did the cooking but did not participate in the raids.

His report also shows Gow admitted being on the Works Progress Administration payroll from May, 1937 to May 1938, during which time he received $181 a month as an organizer for the CIO. His activities as an organizer took him to Boca and Nevada City, both in Nevada County where there were labor disturbances.

The sentencing of the four disposed of all cases but one of the gang whose activities were discovered when Alva F. Love, manager of the market became suspicious and employed a watchman to observe Eisner's activities. The secret watchman called the police when he saw Eisner admit two persons to the building early one Sunday morning.

Robert Ashley, 28, husband of Mrs. Ashley, and the fifth member of the gang, was convicted by a jury and appeared today for sentence. He has asked for probation. The other defendants pleaded guilty.

All except Eisner resided at 1309½ I street. Eisner lived at 812½ J street.

JUDGE REBUKES ELAINE BLACK

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Elaine Black, rich eccentric noted for her radical activities, drew a sharp rebuke Wednesday from Municipal Judge Thomas Prendergast when she sought to act as spokesman for two of the three men arrested in a disorder arising from the German Bund meeting here.

She rose when the case was called and demanded a continuance because the attorney for the two defendants, Jack Sutcliffe and Alfred Taylor, had not appeared.

"The court objects to your taking part in proceedings here," snapped the judge. "You are just a communist and have no standing in this court."

The cases, however, were put over to Saturday morning, along with that of the third defendant, George Essigman. All three are charged with disturbing the peace.

SWIM POOL TO OPEN SUNDAY

The swimming pool in Pioneers park will be open next Sunday at noon, Verle Gray, life guard and manager of the pool, said yesterday. The filter constructed last year will be used this year to clear the water of sediment. A new drain for the scum gutter is to be installed and the old drains cleared. Water running through the filter will be treated with copper sulphate for algae and baccili, and a composition of chlorine will be used in the pool as a sanitary reagent, as it has been since the pool was first opened.

MANY ATTEND LAST RITE FOR DR. SAWYER

Dr. W P. Sawyer, highly esteemed doctor who came to Nevada City many years ago, passed away at the family home Sunday after a long illness. Services were held at the chapel in Holmes Funeral Home Wednesday forenoon and remains were taken to East Lawn cemetery and cremated. Rev. H. H. Buckner of the Methodist church officiated at the service. Mrs. Charles Elliott, sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Abide With Me." She was accompanied by Mrs. P. Bonner.

Dr. Sawyer was born in Gasport, New York and came west after completion of his education. He planned to practice in Buffalo but his health failed and he continued to come west until he found this city to be the ideal place for him. He always took an active interest in the civic affairs of the community, a splendid citizen ready to do his share in the betterment of his home city and county. Dr. Sawyer was greatly loved as a physician for kindliness and sympathy in illness.

He married Miss Helen Ransome in August 1908, and enjoyed an ideal home life. He leaves to mourn his passing his devoted wife, three daughters, Mrs. T. R. Tetz, Mrs. Elbridge Skeahan, Miss Gertrude Sawyer and a sister and brother the latter two being in the east.

Dr. Sawyer was a member of Milo Lodge, Knights of Pythias and Nevada City Lodge, No. 518, B. P. O. Elks. His funeral was largely attended by friends and lodge members attesting to the high regard in which he was held.

A Tribute

By A. MERRIAM CONNER

The sparkling freshness of early morning merged at length into the splendor of high noon, sunset faded and stars shone from the dusky skies, soft winds whispered across the hills of home, the river sang on its way to the open sea, and into the peace and beauty of the fragrant night, to us came the belated message—Dr. Sawyer had slipped through the mists and shadows of this earthly life into the light of an endless day.

The passing of this kindly, gracious gentleman leaves many aching hearts, not only in Nevada County, which was his home for many years, but far beyond her smiling borders as well. The circle of his acquaintanceship was indeed a wide one, and of him it may be truthfully said:

"None knew him but to love him,
None named him but to praise."

His delightful presence is no longer with us; but as the radiance of the after-glow illumines the sky when day is done, so will the memories with which he enriched us, the idents he cherished and the examples of faith and courage set throughout his long life of service and successful endeavor, glorify the shadows that fall about us now and inspire us to lofty emulation through all the days to come.

Youth with its dreams and aspirations merged at length into the high noon of splendid manhood, the long afternoon wore away, night drew near; soft winds floated down from hillsides far away, the river of life flowed on to lose itself in the ocean of eternity; but through the long day, even unto the end, the soul of Dr. Sawyer fared on, dauntless and unafraid. We may think of him as "One who never turned his back,

but marched breast forward,
Nevar doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph,
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better.
Sleep to wake."

The influence of Dr. Sawyer's life cannot be lost; it will live in the hearts and lives of those who knew and loved him; it will comfort those who mourn his absence; it will—

"Roll from soul to soul
And grow forever and forever."

Defense Lawyer Asks Probation For Guilty

The jury sitting in the case of the People versus Yuen, Staton, Vasion, Zdrich, and Circle, charged with rioting, after deliberating for fifty minutes brought in a verdict of guilty yesterday afternoon. The verdict applies individually and collectively.

During their deliberations the jury sent out for a photograph taken by Tom Arden the Sacramento Bee representative, while the riot on the Murchie mine road on the morning of January 20, was in progress and Sheriff Tobiassen and deputies opened the road for the miners to return to work.

An application for probation was made by Attorney George Anderson for the defense and Judge Tuttle referred the matter to Probation Officer A. W. McGagin, who will make his report to the court by June 9, next Thursday. A motion for a new trial was denied.

The trial began May 17 and lasted, with some intermissions due to a holiday and a law motion day in court, for three weeks and one day.

While Attorney Anderson frequently pleaded that no concert of action was shown the testimony of those who had heard C. E. Circle one of the defendants who tried to upset the first automobile in the miners caravan returning to work January 20, declaim that they must die rather than permit the miners to pass, they were standing on their constitutional rights, and that "President Roosevelt was behind them," not only destroyed the theory of individual action, but inevitably indicated concerted and planned action.

The romantic and fanciful testimony of Scott Erwin, former barber of Wallace, Idaho, to the effect that Henry Yuen one of the defendants, while engaged in putting his glove over the end of exhaust pipes in order to stall the engines, came near getting his legs and arms cut off by a driver or drivers in the cars behind the one on which Yuen was centering his attention. The driver, according to Erwin would step on the gas and crash his front bumper against the rear bumper of the car ahead. No one else witnessed this occurence, or at least testified to it. Even the court took notice of Mr. Erwin's extraordinary imagination.

Judge Tuttle among others gave these instructions to the jury.

I instruct you that if you find that the occupants of the automobiles which arrived and were stopped on the Murchie road were employees of the Murchie mine on the way to work on the morning of the occurrence, and that it was necessary for such employees to use said road in going and coming to work, then, in that event I instruct you that such employees had a lawful right to traverse and use said road on the morning of January 20, 1938.

The defendants, in pursuance of their strike, which was lawful, had the legal right to maintain a peaceful picket line, and in so doing they can not be deemed to have engaged in a riot, but in maintaining such picket line, it is unlawful, by means of physical force or violence, or physical restraint, to interfere with the going to and returning from work on the part of any employee of the party or corporation against whom such picket line is directed or maintained.

In addition to these instructions on the law the court has a few comments to make to the jury, not so much as to the facts but as to the credibility of the witnesses. I want to state that any comments I make to you from this time on are not binding on you in any manner, shape or form. They are simply devised by the law as aids to you, if they are of any assistance, in arriving at a just and proper verdict; but you are not to consider them obligatory in any manner.

There has been considerable contradictory evidence in this case, but that is not unusual in criminal cases or in civil cases for that matter. There are quite often contradictions and conflicts in the testimony of the witnesses, and when those appear it is the duty of the jurors to exercise their prerogative under the law to believe whom they please, guided by the instructions as to the law given to you by the court. You have the right to consider whether the evidence is conflicting, when one witness testifies to one thing and another testifies to another, the witness's demeanor on the witness stand, any discrecapcies or contradictions with reference to a witness's testimony—all those things you must take into consideration and it is for you to finally say which one is telling the real truth. Particularly in this case I think that is true.

There are and must be different versions of a conflict of this character or episode or whatever you might call it. The evidence shows there was considerable stress upon everyone out there on the morning of January 20th and I feel that that may give rise to different versions of what took place. That is something that you will have to use your judgment upon and decide for yourself, as to where the truth ultimately lies.

MEMBERS CLASS OF 1888 ENJOY DINNER REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. George Legg were hosts on Wednesday evening, at their home on Nevada street at a reunion dinner to members of the class of 1888 of the Nevada City high school of which Mr. Legg was a member. 1888 is fifty years ago and the group had a wonderful evening of reminiscences. Present at the sumptuous dinner which was presided over by Mrs. Legg were: Mr. and Mrs. George Legg, Mr. Joe Stenger of Nevada City, Mrs. Anette Dorsey of Berkeley, (nee Nettie Breed), Attorney and Mrs Barnum Power (nee Minnie Lester) of San Francisco.

This was only a neuclus of the class of 1888 graduates which numbered 20. Some have passed away and others were unable to come to Nevada City for the occasion. The class was composed of: Minnie Lester, Nettie Hackley, Molly Rosenthal, Jennie White, May Ashburn, George Legg, Louie Woodruff, Maggie Hutchinson, Rachel Morgan, Nettie Breed, Flora Miller, Thomas Goyne, Bert Dickerman, Minnie McNeeley, Maggie Shahaen, Horace Rolfe, Orlena Arnhart, Joseph Stenger, Ella Leonard and Lucy Hurst.

Mr. Legg had files of old time school papers some of which he has given to the Nevada City high school. Copies of the Transcript of Nevada City which had the account of the graduating exercises of the class were also enjoyed. Miss Minnie Lester was valedictorian of the class. George Leegg's essay in its entirety was printed in the Transcript and is given in a separate column of this issue of the Nugget.

"THE BOOM IN CALIFORNIA" BY 1888 GRADUATE

(GEORGE LEGG ESSAY, GRADUATION 1888)

George Legg at the high school commencement exercises held in the theatre Thursday afternoon made the following remarks about the boom in California.

"What is the boom? Where is the boom? Why is it and what are its effects? Webster says to boom is to rush and to roar. Figuratively then it means a rush or stampede of people to one locality.

"They have had a boom in Southern California. For several years

NOR. SAN JUAN HOLDS MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES

By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE

The memorial service sponsored by the Banner Mountain Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion and their auxiliaries held in the beautiful old cemetery in North San Juan Decoration Day was a splendid tribute paid to the brave soldiers who fought in many wars, to the Argonauts of early California and to the many other loved ones who have gone to that bourne from which no traveler returns, yet who continues still to live in the hearts of those who are left behind. It awakened, too, the chords of cherished memories among those now within the immediate family circle, bringing back the recollection of departed hours to faithful friends and kinfolks.

The afternoon began with a patriotic demonstration on the main street of North San Juan. Massed colors were formed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Nevada City and the American Legion Post under their commanders Norman Kistle and John Nettell.

The march was led by two boy scout drummers from Nevada City Troop No. 6. Following the soldiers in the line of march were the Lady's Auxiliaries of the veteran's organizations under the supervision of president Mrs. L. L. Larrabee and Mrs. Mabel Nettell. Many ex-service men, members of the Grand Army, citizens and neighbors also paraded out to the hallowed ground that holds the departed.

Beside the grave of a Civil War Veteran the ritualistic service began when bugler John Nettell played "To the Colors" and a flag was run up on Twamley Memorial Hall and lowered to half-mast. Commander Kistle placed a wreath of flowers on the tomb of the old soldier and directly afterwards came the solemn command for the firing of the salute of honor.

After bugler Nettell sounded taps, Eben K. Smart of Grass Valley delivered a splendid tribute to the North San Juan Ridge to the Forty-Niners and to the brave men who gave their lives toward making the world safe for democracy. In clear, vivid sentences he reminded his listeners of the importance of keeping America free of the ills and isms that spread from the war-plagued fields of foreign countries. Smart stressed his address by asking the entire gathering present to renew their confidence in the Constitution of the United States by pledging allegiance to the Stars and Stripes and all that it stands for.

"Flanders Field" has been recited many times at patriotic demonstrations. But when Miss Gene Hawkins spoke those lines in clear sweet tones beneath the ancient evergreen trees on the slopes of the San Juan sanctuary for the dead they carried a deeper and truer message to the living than is generally experienced.

Fred Conners of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce read "Our Garden of Sleep" written by his talented wife, A. Merriam Conner and brought tears to the eyes of those who heard him.

The company chaplain of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lou Wannamake lead the closing prayer.

The people on the North San Juan ridge were very pleased with the patriotic service and were strong in their insistance to Commander Kistle to make it an annual event.

Miss Elinore Chapman, daughter of Ruxton Chapman, came up from Sacramento to spend the week end visiting relatives and friends in her old home town.

Oscar Odegaarde and son, Jim, enjoyed fishing on Canyon Creek near the Arctic mine early in the week.

The Boom In Cal.

the people have been rushing into that part of the state and buying the wild grape and orange land at from $200 to $500 per acre and paying fabulous prices for land already under cultivation. It has been a wild stampede. It has involved rich and poor, old and young, great and small.

"This is not California's first boom. That began in '49 and continued for several years.

"Kansas had its boom in '56 and '57, Colorado in '59 and Montana in 64. In each there were thousands of people who hardly had time to look around them before they began to wish themselves back. And they did go back. Hundreds and thousands went back denouncing the country as unfit to live in and a failure in every respect.

"Of these attracted by the California booms, many went to the mines. Some grew rich. Of these who went to the valleys, all grew rich. By a few who went to the mines, fortunes were suddenly made: With those who went to the valleys, the growth of their fortunes was slower but more certain. So here in California, even in the brightest period of the mining industry, the cultivation of the soil is safest and best.

"Still it took years to discover that California was fit to live in. People came here onl to make money to be spent in their old homes. It took years to discover that the skies were brighter, the air purer and the fruits better than across the Rockies. It took years to discover that wives and mothers and sisters alone were needed to make here the best homes in the world. Some do not know it yet. Some are always dissatisfied with their surroundings. They look away from home for something better. They eat the rich fruits, but call them accidents. They do ot know that no crop is sure in any part of the world. They do not know that biting pests and chilling frosts and drenching rains do their work everywhere. Grasshoppers strip the fields of Kansas. The drouth blasts the plains of Texas, and injures the crops in California, and the floods deal destruction and death in the Mississippi Valley.

"Why then this boom? Why is it that people have sold their orchards, their rich grain fields, their fine homes, in the Eastern states, and invested everything in the sunny slopes of the Coast Range?

"Because it will cost as much to cultivate an acre of wheat that will yield 20 bushels as it will cultivate an acre of grapes that will yield six tons, and the grapes will be worth $90 while the wheat is worth but $20; and because two or three acres of oranges in good bearing will be worth as much as any hundred acres of grain land in the Mississippi Valley.

"Upon these facts, as well as upon the great adventures in climate, the boom is based. But while the boom has this solid basis to stand upon, it has been forced and becomes an unhealthy growth partly by railroad competition giving very cheap rates of travel, and partly by the advertisements of speculators calling attention to the advantages only, leaving the disadvantages to be found out by experience.

"The same disposition that influences peope to invest in lottery tickets or engage in wild speculations, influences thousands of people to rush to the promised land with barely enough money to bring them to our shores. They did not stop to think that while California has thousands of acres of unoccupied lands, with the largest orange orchard, the largest vineyards, the largest wheat field, and the finest climate in the world, that still it must take time and money to make a home for anybody. Nowhere can persons meet golden coins trying to crawl into the pockets of strangers, or sunny homes waiting to be claimed.

"It is said that the southern boom is bursted, that thousands are getting back to their old homes as best they may. What will be the effect of the boom? We need not regret the loss of the most of those that have gone back. Their influence which will check the tide of desirable immigration will hurt us more. But the most useful of the comers have anchored in California. Their wealth and influence and hopes are here. They knew what they were doing when they came, and they will not be disappointed. The influence of one of these will do more than half a dozen of those that returned.

"Some of those that went back should not have gone. Those that had something to start with, but were not able to establish themselves in the southern part of the state, should have come to the northern foothills.

"Many such people are now finding homes in the northern part of the state, and although we have no boom, it is plain that a season of prosperity is approaching.

"Although the foothill region has some valuable advantages over other parts of the state, it can not be hoped that it will have such a growth as the south has had. In some places around Los Angeles within two years the population has more than doubled, while property value has correspondingly advanced. It is said that the assessment roll of the city and county of Los Angeles alone reaches the enormous amount of $93,000,000. Nine new banks have opened for business within the past twelve months in the counties of Los Angeles, San Diego and San Bernardino.

"Before the tide of prosperity recedes it promises to reach all parts of the state. Sooner or later it will come here. People may convince themselves that this cannot be, but it will be."

Mr. and Mrs. Will S. Coughlan of Silva avenue will have as holiday and week end guests their sons, Lorin Coughlan and wife of San Francisco and George Coughlan, wife and two boys of Auburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Draper had as holiday and week end guests Mrs. Drapers sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs.. S. E. Evans and two children and Norman W. Shaw, Sr., and son and wife all of Oakland.

Isabelle Neeley had as guests over the holidays Mrs. Edith Weiler, Harry Hilliard, of Hollywood, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ericson of Folsom, Mr. Ericson is a guard at Folsom state prison. All the guests formerly lived in Nevada City.

Tourist Gold Is Good Prospect

H. M. L. Jr.

The qualities which make Nevada City a splendid summer and winter resort have not, in my opinion, been sufficiently advertised. We do have several groups of Campfire Girls at Lake Vera each summer, and a small number of summer visitors who come here for quiet and swimming and good mountain air. But this district does not draw vacationists on the large scale that is merited by the attractions of our countryside. Many towns of infinitely less charm and with less to offer visitors, have built up their incomes enormously by high-powered ballyhoo.

The equation of natural advantages plus publicity equals increased tourist income is one that should vitally interest every business man in this community. Tourist dollars go directly into local merchants' pockets. With proper publicity, the tourist trade of this area could be increased to a volume that would make it second in importance only to the mining industry here. At present, most people in the larger cities of the state, ceters of potential tourist trade for this district, think of Nevada City only as a mining camp torn by battles between radical labor unionists and vigilantes. It will take much favorable publicity to wipe out the bad impression caused by the recent abundance of news stories on our labor troubles.

The attractions of Nevada City are most certainly worth advertising. Few Sierra towns have a pleasanter climate, and few can provide equally adequate facilities for snow sport, in the winter, and swimming, tennis, and horseback riding in the summer. We have not done enough to promote our town to its rightful status as a tourist mecca. Angels Camp, not nearly as attractive as Nevada City, nor as historic, receives every year, columns and columns of A-1 free publicity for its annual jumping frog contest. A yearly publicity stunt like that would be an intelligent step in the promotion of Nevada City as a glamorous vacation spot.

The municipal swimming pool has ample room for hundreds of swimmers to cavort safely under the eye of the ever-watchful lifeguard. Lake Vera, four miles from town, has an unlimited capacity for swimmers, and on the banks not reserved for girls' camps, are excellent places to picnic. The most beautiful swimming pool nearby is at Quaker Hill, cupper in the pinkish clay basin of the old hydraulic diggings there. Natural springs keep the water always fresh. The pool is shimmering turquoise. The reflection of the blue sky is brightened by the light banks and bottom of the pool. It is a grand picnic spot. After the swimming is over and the sun sets, the sky grows slowly deeper and deeper blue above, and on the horizon lies a light corona of sapphire. Then, winking, the stars come out. The picnicker is awed by the peace of the evening, and grateful for the beauty of the mountains around about.

Here we have the pines, the mountain air, the recreations, all of the treasures which city people long for and seize with joy in the vacation period. With immediate access to Lake Tahoe, this and the Sierra Butte district, this town has lower commodity prices and a generally lower cost of living than that found around the lake and in faraway mountain retreats. Nevada City fulfills the need of those who desire the pleasures of the mountains and yet wish to live comfortably near civilization and enjoy the hospitality of a mountain town.

Our many organizations for promoting civic welfare and material progress have, in my opinion, given too little attention to the great advantages successful publicity would have for this town. Here in the heart of the Sierras, all the delights of the mountains and the comforts of a friendly town, are arrayed amidst scenes of historic romance and present natural beauty. Surely that is a message to be brought from under a bushel and impressed upon the world. Probably as the most intriguing thing about this message of Nevada City's glamour and beauty is that, properly presented and advertised abroad, it would reap a golden crop, rich as the forty-niner's once harvested from the banks of the Yuba and Deer Creek.

GOLD RUSH AND COUNTY FAIR AT AUBURN, JUNE 3-5

AUBURN, May 26.—Auburn opened its famous Helldorado on Saturday evening the 21st to one of the biggest parties ever held on the Mother Lode.

The care with which the Committee has builded this old time dance hall and cafe is the wonder of all. A replica of an old time hall and bar of the Roarin' Forties is successfully reproduced the spirit and romance of the days when California was young.

Old table cloths cover the tables which line the sides of Helldorado. Old lighting fixtures designed especially for the room shed a gentle glow of warmth and add to the illusion of antiquity. The 80 foot bar with its bar room pictures painted especially for the room with their mirrors which were so much in vogue in the old days lend a decoration to room which will be long remembered The stage with its old advertising curtain which insisted in going up in the old way, one side at a time and then descending with a bump gave just the right bit of humor to the show. And that show, what a lot of memories it brought up of those days when we used to go to the variety show, sit close and stare up in wonderment at the acts while our minds wondered in awe at the gyrations of the actors. Well it was all there, from the Floradora Sextet and Can Can to the Cake Walk and the songs in which the audience joined. The old songs, Baggage Coach Ahead and all the rest.

Red shirted and bearded miners, for the whole town has beards on the men and old costumes, rubbed elbows with the ladies in the fairy-like ruffles and poke bonnets of a day when California was a fledgling state.

A service bar and kitchen gave the best to the tables and the dance floor is crowded with the dancers. We went home when the stars were just beginning to fade and in our hearts was the remembrance of one of the great evenings of our life. Helldorado is open and you are welcome to one of the most unique entertainments ever staged on the Mother Lode, and it is in Auburn.

OPERETTA BY H. S. STUDENTS GREAT SUCCESS

"H. M. S. Pinafore" operetta presented by the Nevada City high school choruses Wednesday night in the Nevada Theatre was in two acts and told a delightful story ending with three romanes. The stage was decorated as ship's quarter deck. The boys were in white sailor costumes and the girls wore colorful satins. Bill Molthen, Dorothe Hoff, Alice Graham, John Muscardini, Clifford Hoff and Tony Cartoscelli portrayed the main characters. The performance was excellent and the cast of forty is to be complimented. Mrs. Libbey, the well known chorus teacher directed the operetta and credit goes to her for her months of preparation and work. This is the second musical show that has been given, and the audience who enjoy them hope they become a tradition as they can look forward to one every year.

Mrs. George Lysterup of Grove street will leave June 13 for Utah to attend a family reunion. Her sister at Hamilton Field will join her. There are twelve living children who will be with their mother on this reunion.

Miss Ruth Curnow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Curnow, has returned from attending University of California at Berkeley and will spend the summer here. A friend, Miss Esther Rasmussen of Oakland, is spending a two week vacation with Miss Curnow. Miss Beth Curnow, who is with the American Surety Company in San Francisco spent last week end at home, Mr. and Mrs. Curnow motoring to the city with her Monday.

NEVADA CITY WOMAN WRITES WINNING ESSAY

The Chairman of Conservation of the General Federation of Women's Clubs which assembled at Kansas City early in May offered a prize to the club that submitted the best essay on "The Elimination of Man-Caused Forest Fires."

The Womens Civic Club of this city have won this prize through the efforts of Mrs. DeWitt Nelson and once again Nevada City has brought honor to the state of California by an organization having for its motive the best interests of the community they delight to honor and improve. The essay follows and speaks for itself:

THE ELIMINATION OF MAN-CAUSED FOREST FIRES

Dawn—a rustle in the pines—and from his distant peak an alert lookout sees the first wisp of a tell-tale smoke.

Noon—that dawn breeze has become a gale, that first wisp a raging inferno.

Dusk—frightened wild creatures flee before the flames, organized ranks of men labor in the stifling air—and—before another day, weary firefighters load their tools and forest rangers record another fire controlled, but there lie thousands of acres of blackened, smoking ruin—a testimony to the carelessness of man.

It is a paramount task of our generation to so educate the people that man is no longer the forest's greatest risk, but rather, the forests's staunchest friend. It is a difficult task, but not an impossible one. There is need for coordination of effort by those organizations of thoughtful adults throughout the country who are interested in solving the problems of conservation. The National Federation of Women's Clubs is one of the most powerful of such organizations and should take the lead in bringing about such cooperation.

The elemination of man-caused fires requires a reduction of hazards along highways, railroads and around towns and buildings in forested areas. This can be done efficiently under the supervision of government agencies, but it requires the appropriation of greater funds by federal, state and private industry. Fire prevention throughout lumbering operations comes under this particular phase of hazard reduction.

The second problem is less tangible and more difficult—that of adult education. Forest users can be divided generally into two classes, the first including those who go to the forests for recreation, who buy timber, who depend upon the fortsts for watershed protection, or who are in some way aided by them in the business of making a living. These can be reached by visual education and by designated observances such of Fire Prevention Week, and Conservation Week.

There also must be continued progress in recreational development in publicly owned forests, for giving a place to play, and to know nature, and at the same time be comfortable is a major step in forest appreciation, and therefore, forest care.

In the second group are those who by inheritance or training believe in theory which has been disproved) for thtory which has been disproved) for easier hunting, or for malicious mischief. For these we must resort to law. In most sections of the country existing fire laws are adequate, but they must be more rigidly enforced, and offenders punished more severely.

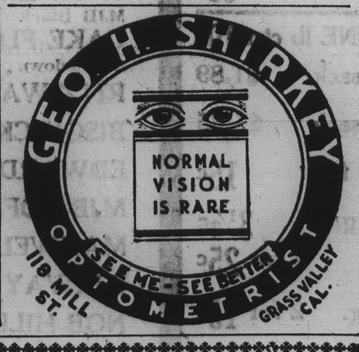
There is a channel for the education of this group and in the same channel lies the ultimate answer to our problem. It is the education of our youth.

The boundless energy and enthusiasm of children is akin to the surge and power of nature. Children are impressionable, eager to learn, and ideas which are attractive to the child are absorbed and they do incline the tree of adult life. In school, and in youth organizations, children can be given practical lessons in woodcraft and taught those precautions which are fundamental if we are to eleminate man-caused fires. There they can learn the fallacy of light-burning and many fathers have been converted to the cause of fire prevention by their children.

One ranger has a junior forest ranger group among the boys and girls of his community. They display their knowledge and their simple badges with pride.

Striving for Utopia perhaps— and yet—another dawn—another generation, and the reseeded burned-over area has been nurtured by kindly season. A breeze in the pines, and timid creatures nestle within the forest, protected and secure.

There lie thousands of acres of beautiful timber —a testimony to the thoughtfulness and care of man.



ART HELLINGS ENTERS RACE FOR COUNTY CLERK

Arthur F. Hellings, popularly known throughout Nevada county as "Art" Hellings, has acceded to repeated suggestions and importuning of friends and groups in both eastern and western Nevada county and announced his candidacy for the office of county clerk for the election to be held August 30.

In aspiring for the office, one of the more important in Nevada county government, the nominee is backed with a liberal and formal education; widespread and friendly relationships with the people of Nevada county over a long period of years; and an acquaintance with county affairs by reason of more than three years as a county officer, much of that period in office experience and adaption to the modern methods of county government functioning.

Arthur F. Hellings came to Nevada county, making his home in Grass Valley 31 years ago and with the exception of a term as deputy sheriff under the then Sheriff Geo. R. Carter, was engaged in the mining industry as a worker, foreman and shift boss, taking employment at the Allison Ranch, Golden Center and for a considerable recent period at the Empire mine.

The county clerk aspirant has been a close observer of trends and policies in the efficient function of local government and believes that he possesses the qualifications and the attributes which will make for an efficient, courteous and reliable public servant. He believes that he can fulfill the duties and responsibilities of the office with credit to himself and satisfaction to the citizenry of the county, who in the last analysis are the employers.

Careful and painstaking in his work, ever trying for the right and with counteous consideration of his fellow citizens, Hellings will conduct a direct and extensive campaign.

YUBA PASS OPEN

The Yuba Pass highway was opened to motor travel Wednesday after having been closed to automobile travel since the heavy snowstorms early in January. Rotary plows operated from Sierra City since May 18 opening the six foot snow pack to two way travel. It is stated motorists are traveling over the pass without chains.

Born—to Mr. and Mrs. Verle Gray, Tuesday, May 23, 1938, in Lodi California, a daughter. Mr. Gray is re-employed at the Nevada City municipal swimming pool for this summer.

Mrs. C. Orzalli entertained Thursday honoring the third wedding anniversary of her friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Scates. In figuring dates it was discovered it was also the eighth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Orzalli.

Jim Spellenberg and brother of Arcata, Humboldt county, stopped over in Nevada City during the past week end visiting several old time friends before continuing on to Sierra City to decorate graves of loved ones and visit old time friends.

JAY COUGHLAN ASKS TO RETAIN SUPERVISOR JOB

Jay C. Coughlan, supervisor of the Third supervisorial district by virtue of an appointment by Gov. F. F. Merriam who took his seat on the board last November, now asks election to the post. Born and reared in the district, and a resident there all of his life except for the time he spent overseas as a member of the American Expeditionary Forces he ,knows its needs from practical experience.

His district extends from a short distance east of the old town of Tyler, up the ridge through Graniteville to the Nevada-Sierra county line, down through Washington Township to the Nevada Township line. A far flung stretch of territory with a lot of road mileage.

His problem is to keep those roads in good condition for travel and although the district is handicapped by lack of funds, he has in the short time he has been on the board succeeded in bettering many road units. The road from North Columbia to Tyler, a part of the route leading from Nevada City to Alleghany via Foote's Crossing, has since his induction to office been given notable improvement.

Likewise, he has within the past few days had completed a stretch of about two miles on the Washington Grade, widening it to 24 feet and placing it in splendid condition.

Mr. Coughlan promises if elected to continue the good work, asserting that the work of the past six months is only a starter for better roads in the district.

who testified and their creditibility. I believe, with one exception, the witnesses, including the defendants, were trying to tell the facts as they saw them, and I think that, with one exception, they did that. Just where the truth lies, as I told you before, is for you to decide. There is nothing I ran state about those witnesses exiept the one I am going to mention later—their stories, as I say, may have some conflict, some element of difference, but I feel that simply arises from the way they saw things there on the ground under the conditions which then existed.

There is one witness to whose testimony I wish to draw attention. That is the witness Scott Erwin. Mr. Irwin testified that he came to Nevada County about six days before this affair, I think he said the 14th of January—and then, during the course of his testimony he testified that he was on the ground there, and when he was near the first several cars there that drew up, the cars in which the working men were riding, he saw the defendant Yuen walking back of one or two of the cars, back and forth, near the exhaust pipe, I believe, and he testified that while the defendant Yuen was doing this the drivers of these cars, if you take him at his word, deliberately manipulated their cars, moved them forward in such a manner as to try to amputate the legs of Henry Yuen. He said they did that, not only once but several times. He said also that they later tried to cut off Yuen's arms. In weighing tha fact you may consider this: Henry Yuen took the witness stand and was examined by his counsel on direct examination and nothing was said about this attempted amputation of his limbs. He was cross examined by the District Attorney and not a word was said about the proposed amputation of his legs and arms. You have the testimony of several other persons who were near these two cars. Not one of them testified to this terrible threatened injury. Not only that but these cars were surrounded, as the evidence shows, by sympathizers of the defendants. It is for you to say whether or not these witnesses would not have been called to testify to such an episode if it ever took place. In my opinion, that testimony that I have mentioned, the testimony of Scott Irwin on those points, I consider as pure fabrication. In my opinion, it casts suspicion and doubt upon the entire testimony of Irwin. You won't have to look at it like I do. You may make up your mind. What I have said is not binding upon you at all.

The judge limited the arguments of counsel to one hour for each side.

In his argument District Attorney Vernon Stoll demanded conviction of the accused men, C. E. Circle, James Vassion, Roy Staton, Henry Yuen and Peter Zderich.

Defense Counsel George Anderson asked for their acquital.

In the event of conviction the maximum penalty for each of the defendants would be one year in the county jail and $2000 fine.

District Attorney Stoll called only one rebuttal witness yesterday. That was Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen, who testified that he had not used profane language in addressing the Murchie mine pickets on the morning of the rioting.

The testimony of eight witnesses Wednesday completed the defense's case shortly before 5 o'clock.

At that time Defense Attorney Anderson moved for an instructed verdict to the jury but Judge Tuttle overruled it stating:

"There is sufficient evidence to uphold a conviction in this case."

The witneesses who testified for the defense yesterday are: Carl Rowley, Mrs. Margaret Green, the only woman witness during the trial; Defendants Vassion, Circle, Zderich and Staton. Grant Spear, a sixth picket held on the riot charge, who will have a separate trial, and Scott Erwin, international organizer for the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, a CIO affiliate.

Circle testified the sheriff told the CIO pickets, who were massed in the Murchie mine road, preventing the automobiles carrying the miners from moving to "Get the hell out of this road, I demand you open this road."

"I told him," Circle said, "we were standing on our constitutional rights and the Wagner Act gave us the right to peaceful picketing."

Circle stated while he was getting out of the tear gas he was knocked down four times by high-way patrolmen.

He said when he went over the brow of a hill on the Murchie road and down toward the mine he accosted General Manager Robert Hendricks of the Murchie mine. He said Hendricks had a pistol in one hand and two companions held pick handles. He testified Hendricks ordered him and other pickets not to come further.

Under cross examination Circle deled he had called any of the miners "scabs". He testified he had said:

"I would rather die myself than see the law make scabs out of you by forcing you through this picket line."

Judge Tuttle asked Circle if he believed the Wagner Act deprived persons from the right to go to work, but Circle evaded an answer.

Attorney Anderson said for the record he wished to assign the "tonal quality and quantity of voice" of the court as "in error and prejudicial."

Judge Tuttle, with a smile, asked Anderson how many such "assignments" he had made during the trial Anderson replied:

"Quite a few, your honor."

Spear testified after he was shown the photograph, that Woods was the figure standing with his foot in the air and a figure in a white sweat shirt in the picture was himself. The deputy sheriff with whom Spear had been strugglinb was identified as Misner.

Under cross examination Spear admitted he had no independent recollection of the scene depicted in the picture. He said he recognized the figures because of their attire.

"Did you jump on Misner?" Stoll asked.

"I did not," Spear replied.

Erwin was the final defense witness.

"I was a little bit afraid of what would happen," Erwin testified in regard to the situation, "because the sheriff wasn't taking the legal means of eviction."

Erwin said he heard Sheriff Tobiassen shout:

"The situation is out of control! I call upon the California Highway Patrol."

He said after the battle started he saw two deputies hold Defendant Vassion and beat him with clubs. Erwin said four deputies were assigned to guard him. He testified he turned around once to see one of the deputies with a club poised in the air ready to strike him.

"I looked the man in the eye" he testified, "and the man dropped the club."

He testified after he heard Sheriff Tobiassen shout "Bring on the riot guns" he saw Chief of Police W. G. Robson of Nevada City passing out guns to deputy sheriffs.

Erwin testified the battle ended after he asked Tobiassen to call a halt so he could talk to the men. He said he told the sheriff: "There has been bloodshed enough." He said Tobiassen agreed to a five minute "armistice." Erwin said he then advised the pickets to withdraw and let the anti CIO miners return to work. answered many of District Attorney

Under cross examination Erwin Stoll's questions by saying "I do not recall."

The witness testified he saw Sheriff Tobiassen struck with a stone just before he called for the riot guns. Erwin said the stone struck Tobiassen on the neck.

Upon the platform of promises fulfilled and efficiency of execution, L. R. (Bob) Jefford is seeking return to the office of Coroner of Nevada County, which office he has held for the past four years. His announcement of candidacy will be found in another column of this issue.

The office of coroner entails duties encompassing office work, attention to details and all of which Mr. Jefford has maintained during his 1934-1938 term. The annual allotment for maintenance of the coroner's office is set at $1,500 per year. This budget has been kept at a minimum by Mr. Jefford who has never used his full allotment but has returned several hundred dollars each year to the Board of Supervisors, accompanied by a true and accurate report of monies expended in maintaining the office.

Part of the county allotment to the coroner is the sum of $50 to be used in defraying the yearly costs of coroner convention attendance. Mr. Jefford's report shows that he has never used this appropriation, turning it back to the supervisors under the column headed "unused funds."

Low operating costs of the office dovetails fully with Mr. Jefford's candidacy policy of the four years ago—economy and efficiency. This same policy, he declared, will be maintained during the 1938-1942 term in the event of his return to office by the voters.

The incumbent has been a resident of Grass Valley since 1927, during which period he has conducted the W. R. Jefford and Son Funeral Home. Of progressive and constructice nature, "Bob" Jefford contributed generously to Grass Valley's improved business buildings through recent erection of the finely appointed W. R. Jefford and Son Funeral Home at the corner of Church and Walsh streets.

A Glimpse of Building Activity

VOL. 1. JUNE 3, 1938. No. 85.

Have you seen the new Schumite one-half inch thick wall board. A veritable wall against heat and cold and so sturdy and well constructed that wall paper, paint, stucco or any other decoration has a perfect base. Economical in price and economical to put in place. See it before you build.

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Whipp on the Tahoe Ukiah highway at the city limits is off to a good start, with a fine sturdy concrete foundation, built with Monolith Cement. Monolith makes a number of kinds of cement. One of these will be right for your job.

Our pride in Redwood Picket Pack Fences increases with each beautiful fence job that is partly the result of calling your attention to picket fences in these columns. We will assist you in designing and estimating your fence.

Another new stucco front on a face-lifting job on the Sun Grocery next to the City Hall on Broad street. Green stucco wash was used for the finish and the red trim on the windows make a striking job. Bill Logan was the contractor on this work.

UNWORRIED

A group of negroes were lying on the floor in front of the fireplace, when one of them spoke up:

"Is it a-rainin' out?"

"Ah, don't know," replied another prostrate figure.

"Well git up an' look," insisted the first voice.

"Aw, heck," said the persecuted one, lazily, "call de dawg in an' see if he's wet."

SACRAMENTO ROTARIANS GIVE LOCAL PROGRAM

Drury Butler, president of Sacramento Rotary, Walter Strand, member of the same club, Peter Knoles, professor of history in the Sacramento Junior College, and Miss Eloise Hornstein, who graduated last evening from the Sacramento Junior College, gave the entertainment yesterday noon for the Nevada City Rotary Club. Chairman of the day was Clyde Gwin, who acted in the absence of Lou Kopp.

Miss Hornstein played the accompaniments for Peter Knoles, who sang three songs in a rich baritone. He is the son of Tully Knoles, former governor of this Rotary district and president of Pacific College. He sang an old English dialectic song, "Summersetshire," "Tommy Boy," and a soldiers song, dedicated many years ago to an Idaho regiment. Before singing he gave a short introduction to the songs and stated that he and four of his six brothers once sang as a male quartet.

Drury Butler recited the story of Christopher Columbus as told by Farmer Cy Cornstossel of the Coon Hollow Debating Society. It was a delightful mixture of modern and ancient history, liberally sprinkled with geographical misplacements, and political wisecracks. Roars of laughter punctuated the recital.

Mrs. R. Maltman and daughter of the bay region spent the past week end in their old home town and greeted many friends.
